GELBIEH

KELLERBIER 5.2%

Gelbvieh (pronounced 'gel-fee') is a Franconian-style Kellerbier, brewed with our friends from Newbarns brewery in Leith, Scotland. Expect an unfiltered and hazy pale gold lager with a robust bitterness and a floral, spicy hop character, dashed with notes of strawberry and fresh melon. Gelbvieh is named after a classic Bavarian cattle breed originating from the Franconian region, similar-looking to both Simmentals and Limousins, which are to be found at both Newbarns farm and in the grounds of Thornbridge Hall.

HORDALAND

KVEIK IPA 6.0%

Kveik is a collective term for a family of yeast strains from the area formerly known as Hordaland in Norway. They are renowned for fermenting very quickly and cleanly. We wanted to try one of these strains for a hazy, hoppy IPA using the juicy trio of Citra, Galaxy and Mosaic hops. The beer is light in colour and bursting with flavours of pineapple, peach and grapefruit. Intense tropical fruit flavours of lychee and guava resonate throughout and it finishes with a gentle bitterness.

BOURBON BARREL AGED STOUT 13%

Necessary Evil is an imperial stout aged for 8 months in bourbon barrels. Aromas of sweet bourbon, vanilla and oak from the ageing process combine with rich chocolate, roasted malts and caramel from the base beer. Soft and silky, this full flavoured stout has layers of complexity and flavour unlike any other. Best served around 10-12°C, so take out the fridge for a while before serving. Whilst this beer will age well, there is no time like the present, so we recommend opening and enjoying it as soon as possible.
